4.2 Description of the essential features of the above-stated payment services

4.2.1 Management of payment accounts including handling of cash payout transactions in connection with such accounts

Payment accounts are accounts exclusively serving the purpose of payment transactions and not that of investing money.

Upon opening a payment account, the future account holder must prove his/her identity. Payment accounts will be kept under the name or company name of the account holder and a number. The persons authorized to dispose of or sign for a payment account must deposit their specimen signature with EURAM Bank. EURAM Bank will permit dispositions in writing within the scope of the account relationship with the customer on the basis of the specimen signatures so deposited.

Only the account holder shall be entitled to dispose of the payment account. Only those persons whose representative authority derives under the law or who were explicitly granted the power of disposition in writing shall be authorized to represent the account holder. They must provide proof of their identity and representative authority.

The account holder may explicitly grant signatory power to other persons in writing. The authorized signatory shall exclusively be authorized to effect and revoke acts of disposition with respect to the credit balance. Cash deposits on a payment account shall be excluded. Cash withdrawals from a payment account shall be possible by an authorized person (account holder, signatory, authorized agent etc.) upon corresponding legitimation or verification of the respective authority.

4.2.2 Execution of payment transactions

4.2.2.1 Direct debit transactions

In case of a direct debit, the customer gives his/her consent to the recipient of the payment, its bank or his/her own bank, entitling the payment recipient to subsequently debit the customer's payment account.

Procedure for the execution of direct debit entries:

- debit via the direct debit procedure
- debit via the SEPA direct debit procedure

With the direct debit procedure, the payer entitles the payee to debit his account via EURAM Bank as his account-holding bank.

SEPA Direct Debit is the transborder direct debit mandate in euros for the entire Single Euro Payments Area (SEPA).

With the SEPA direct debit procedure the payer places a direct order with the payee to carry out the debit entry. EURAM Bank as account holding bank of the payer is not involved in this procedure and will only carry out the accounting entry.

Differences between the procedures

For the direct debit procedure there is no option to revoke the debit entry, if the bank delivers evidence that the customer received information on the upcoming debit at least four weeks prior to the payment due date either from the bank or the payee in an agreed manner, or if the customer authorised the exact amount of the direct debit in his/her debit order or vis-à-vis the payee.

For the SEPA direct debit procedure the revoke period amounts to 56 calendar days. Within that period, customers whose payment account the direct payment was effected form, may have each booked debit transaction reversed on the basis of an objection without stating any reasons.

4.2.2.2 Execution of payment transactions by way of credit cards or similar instruments

a) Credit cards

Using a credit card, the card holder is entitled, upon entry of the personal code - also called PIN (personal identification number) - or against signing, within the agreed credit limit,

- to procure goods and services from the contracting companies by submitting the credit card, without cash payment;
- to procure the services of the contracting companies without submitting the card and without cash payment within the scope of distant selling through purchase orders effected in writing or by telephone, provided the respective contracting company offers this option; the same applies to the conclusion of legal transactions on the internet or using a mobile terminal device (e-Commerce, m-Commerce);
- to withdraw cash to the extent agreed at credit institutions authorized accordingly;
- to withdraw cash, up to the agreed limit, at automated teller machines (ATMs) specifically marked for card-based withdrawals in Austria and abroad using the bank card and the personal code.

a) EURAM e-Banking

EURAM e-Banking by internet enables the customer, within the scope of EURAM e-Banking, to make inquiries, to place orders, to upload files, and to communicate by e-mail, by entering personalized identification features.

The security of EURAM e-Banking is enhanced by the two-factor authentication. As a result, you have better protection against unauthorized use. The two-factor authentication of EURAM e-Banking consists of a combination of personal identification number (PIN) combined with a unique transaction number generated (TAN) and must be done not only when triggering an electronic payment transaction, but also when

- you seek access to your online payment account,
- you want to access information regarding your payment account electronically or
- other electronically triggered processes that require special protection.

Through Open Banking you have the option of accessing your payment account and take advantage of payment services via a Third Party Providers (or "TPPs"). Due to the PSD2 banks must allow Third Party Provider access to their customers' payment accounts, provided the client agrees to grant such an access. Third Party Provider are, for example, other banks or fintecs that must be registered with a European supervisory authority. TPPs can only access, if the customer expressly consents. Therefore, the client has full control and can revoke the consent in the Online Banking Tool at any time.

Details for Third Party Provider

Banks must grant a secure technical interface to various service providers:

Account Information Service Providers ("AISP") provide account information according to the client's order (f.e. debits).

Payment initiation Service Providers ("PISP") can initiate payment orders requested by the client.

Payment Instrument Service Providers ("PIIS") may, after approval, query the bank for the availability of funds.

For each connection to EURAM Bank, the TPP must identify itself to the customer.

The existing security features such as the access number, PIN or TAN you use for your EURAM e-Banking also apply to this new account access channel. For actions that require TAN input on screens within our technical banking infrastructure (redirect), EURAM e-banking also supports alternative methods (such as SMS-TAN).

By redirect is meant that for the electronic authorization of orders (consents, payment orders) the TPP will redirect you to our own screens within our technical bank infrastructure (= "redirect") After a successful authorization, our technical banking infrastructure automatically logs you out.

Please note that at any time you do not need share your security features (PIN, user number or TAN) to the TPP.

To use a TPP service, you must make a direct agreement, of which we as EURAM Bank do not know of, with a TPP. Therefore, the TPP must have an electronic certificate identifying itself to EURAM Bank each time it establishes a connection.

4.2.2.3 Bank transfers (also in the form of standing orders)

Transfer orders must contain information on the recipient's payment service provider (sort code or Bank Identifier Code / BIC) and the account number or International Bank Account Number (IBAN). This information constitutes the recipient's customer identifier. In addition, the names of payer and recipient can be included. In any case, the reason for transfer indicated in the transfer order is irrelevant to EURAM Bank.

Transfer orders may be issued by the customer in writing or electronically by way of EURAM e-Banking, as agreed with EURAM Bank.

However, EURAM Bank shall also be entitled to carry out transfer orders given by way of telecommunication (in particular by telephone, e-mail or telefax). EURAM Bank shall only be obliged to carry out such orders if the customer has made a corresponding agreement with EURAM Bank.

EURAM Bank shall only be obliged to carry out any transfer order if complete cover is available on the customer's account (credit balance, overdraft facility).

The SEPA bank transfer is the uniform European payment transactions product for domestic and transnational bank transfers in Euro throughout the entire SEPA (Single Euro Payments Area).

A standing order is a one-time written or electronic order by the customer to transfer the same amount in intervals or on fixed dates to a specified account. It may be issued for a limited or unlimited period.

5. DUTIES OF CARE IN CASE OF PAYMENT INSTRUMENTS AND BLOCKING OF PAYMENT INSTRUMENTS

5.1 Duties of care on the customer's part in case of payment instruments

Upon receipt of a payment instrument, and when using the same, the customer must take all reasonable precautions to protect the personalized safety features (especially PIN, TAN etc.) and the payment instrument (e.g. credit card) from unauthorized access (please find a detailed description of the payment instruments and of the personalized safety features in clause 4.2.2.2).

In their own interest, customers shall be obliged to carefully store the payment instrument. The personalized safety features must be kept confidential. When using the personalized safety features, care must be taken that they cannot be spied out or tracked by third parties.

5.2 Blocking of payment instruments

5.2.1 Blocking by EURAM Bank

EURAM Bank can block a payment instrument if

- there are objective reasons relating to the safety of the payment instrument that justify this way of procedure;
- any unauthorized or fraudulent use of the payment instrument is suspected;
- the customer has failed to meet his/her payment obligations with respect to a credit line associated with a payment instrument and either the settlement of said payment obligations is jeopardized due to any impairment or endangerment of the financial circumstances of the customer or any co-debtor or the customer's insolvency has occurred or is imminent.

EURAM Bank will inform the customer accordingly if possible prior to blocking the payment instrument, but no later than after such blocking. However, this information may also be omitted if it would be contrary to objective safety considerations or violate any judicial or official order. When using any payment instrument, the customer must observe the terms of issue and use applicable to the latter.

5.2.2 Blocking by the customer

The customer must report the loss or theft, the misuse or other unauthorized use of a payment instrument and of EURAM e-Banking to EURAM Bank in person, in writing or by telephone immediately, as soon as he/she becomes aware of the relevant circumstances.

The telephone number +43 (01) 512 38 80-0 is available for the receipt of blocking reports during the opening hours of EURAM Bank.

6. AUTHORIZATION AND EXECUTION OF PAYMENT ORDERS

6.1 Authorization, cancelation and refusal of payment orders

EURAM Bank shall only consider payment orders as authorized if the customer has consented to the respective payment transaction in the form agreed with him/her for that purpose and using a payment instrument agreed with him/her for that purpose. Judicial or official orders may replace such consent.

The consent may be cancelled by the customer

- up to the time the customer's payment order is received by EURAM Bank
- or – in case of any future date of execution being agreed – prior to the end of the business day preceding the agreed date. Debit entries and direct debit authorizations may be cancelled by the customer no later than at the end of the business day preceding the agreed date of the debit entry.
- or – in case a standing order was agreed – three business days prior to the end of the business day preceding the agreed date.

EURAM Bank may only refuse to execute any authorized payment order if

- it does not meet all requirements stipulated in the current account contract and the terms (in particular if any required information is missing or if there is insufficient cover through credit balances or open credit lines), or
- execution of the order would violate regulations under EU or national law or any judicial or official orders, or
- there is a justified suspicion that execution of the order would constitute a criminal act.

6.2 Execution/duration of payment orders

In case of payment transactions in euro, EURAM Bank will make sure that the respective amount is received by the recipient's payment service provider domiciled within the SEPA region no later than one business day after receipt of the payment order.

The above-mentioned deadlines shall be extended by another business day in each case for payment orders issued in hardcopy form.

For payment transactions within the SEPA region that are not denominated in Euros but any other currency of a SEPA country, the execution deadline shall be a maximum of four business days.

In case of payment orders in favour of recipient accounts managed by banks outside the SEPA region, or in case of payment orders in other currencies than the Euro or any currency of a SEPA country, EURAM Bank shall be obliged to take care that the payment order is processed as quickly as possible.

6.3 Liability of EURAM Bank for failure to execute or faulty execution of payment orders

In case of Euro payment orders or payment orders in the currency of any SEPA country in favour of a recipient account managed within the SEPA region, EURAM Bank shall be liable to the customer for the proper and timely execution of the payment order until receipt of the amount at the recipient's payment service provider.

In case of payment orders in favour of recipient accounts managed by banks outside the SEPA region, or in case of payment orders in other currencies than the Euro or any currency of the SEPA region, EURAM Bank shall be obliged to take care that the payment order is processed as quickly as possible and to involve other suitable payment service providers for that purpose - unless the service providers were explicitly designated by the customer.

As of the time of receipt of the relevant amount, the payment service provider of the recipient shall be liable to the latter for the proper further processing of the payment transaction.

If a payment order is triggered by or through the recipient of the payment, the latter's payment service provider shall be liable towards the recipient of the payment

- for proper transmission of the payment order to the payment service provider of the payer, and
- for processing the payment transaction in line with its duties regarding value date and availability.

6.4 Information on individual payment transactions

Immediately upon execution of any payment transaction EURAM Bank shall forward the following information to the customer via the selected way of communication:

- a reference allowing to identify the relevant payment transaction, as well as information on the payment recipient, if applicable;
- the amount concerned in the currency of the debit charged to the customer's payment account, or in the currency used in the payment order;
- the foreign exchange rate underlying the payment transaction, if applicable;

- the value date of the debit entry or the date of receipt of the payment order.

If an order is not received on a business day or according to the times stated below, it shall only be deemed received on the next business day. 7.1.1 Adjustment of the debit entry on the account

If a payment order was carried out debiting a customer's account without authorization by the customer, EURAM Bank shall immediately restore the customer's account so debited to the balance it would show without the unauthorised payment transaction, i.e. in particular reverse the debit entry on the account in the amount of the payment transaction with the value date of the debit entry. The customer shall immediately inform EURAM Bank as soon as he/she detects any not authorized payment transaction. The customer's right to adjustment shall lapse 13 months after the date of the debit entry at the latest.

7.2 Liability of the customer

If any payment transactions not authorized by the customer are based on the misuse of a payment instrument, the customer is obliged to indemnify EURAM Bank for the entire loss incurred as a consequence, provided that the customer

- (i) has fraudulently enabled the loss to occur, or
- (ii) has caused the loss to occur through intentional or grossly negligent violation of the duties incumbent upon him/her in connection with the careful safekeeping of payment instruments.

If the customer has violated said duties only negligently (if he/she violated the duty of care in a way that cannot always be excluded even with persons of average diligence) the customer's liability for the loss shall be limited to an amount of € 150.-.

The customer's liability shall lapse (except for the instance mentioned in (i) above) for payment transactions effected by means of any payment instrument after the customer ordered EURAM Bank to block said payment instrument.

7.3 Reversal of an authorized payment transaction triggered by the payment recipient

The customer shall have a claim against EURAM Bank for reimbursement of the full amount of an authorized payment transaction triggered by or through a payment recipient. For the SEPA direct debit procedure the revoke period amounts to 56 calendar days. Within that period, customers whose payment account the direct payment was effected from, may have each booked debit transaction reversed on the basis of an objection without stating any reasons.
